

Brexit policy

Having been established since 1984, EC Electronics has weathered many storms and adapted to an ever-changing business landscape. Our primary objective in navigating a way through Brexit is to ensure that our customers supply chains are unaffected. We will continue to offer innovative Electronics Manufacturing Services to our customers, whatever form the final Brexit deal takes.

Since expanding our business in 2006 with a new facility in Romania, we have a foot firmly in 'both camps' and will continue to use this leverage to promote our business and the interests of our customers.

To further strengthen our position in Europe and to support our manufacturing operations in Romania, we have established EC Electronics BV in The Netherlands. EC Electronics BV has been trading since January 2020 and allows us to access new markets to support our organic growth whilst providing additional protection for our customers from possible negative Brexit scenarios. Expansion and management of our European supply chain will be administered from The Netherlands.

The EC Electronics global supply chain will also ensure that we continue to source components from the most appropriate location.

Manufacturing continues seamlessly at our Romanian and UK factories whilst Customer Service and Engineering functions remain unchanged in the UK.

Whatever the outcome of the Brexit negotiations, EC Electronics are uniquely positioned to ensure an uninterrupted supply chain for UK and European Customers.
